EPHPHATHA - Be Opened

Thy Will be Done

It is the hardest thing, to do God's will. There is the ignorance of what doing God's will means. There is the question of how one could really know God's will. There is the assertion of free will that seems incompatible with bending ours to God's. There is the drowning in tragedies and hurts that makes one question whether such is God's will. There could be a life history of being abandoned, neglected, cheated, which leads to a drive for self-sufficiency. There is the belief in a prosperity gospel. At the opposite end are the saints who lived with abandon to every moment of their lives, equally embracing every suffering and persecution as they embraced moments of ecstatic consolation.

Is there a middle ground? Scripture says that people who are lukewarm, neither hot nor cold, will be spit out of the Lord's mouth. But Scripture also reveals to us that we are allowed to express our disappointment and anger over what we may perceive as injustice. We are invited to keep asking, to keep seeking, to keep knocking. Scripture says that Jesus also stands at the door and knocks, ready to help us do as He did, to do God's will. God wills our sanctification, that we be partakers in His divine nature, to be in a state of grace just like Adam and Eve were before the fall. This petition to our Father is to ask for a trustful surrender to everything that comes our way.

PONDER IN GOD'S PRESENCE:

Where do we start to know and do God's will? For God so loved the world... Start believing that we are loved, that God wills our good, that everything works for our good when we love God.

Adoration at St. Patrick's

"One who I call to a life of reparation must not fall into lukewarmness and the lack of generosity. These things are the very opposite of what a call to reparation signifies. I have called you and set you apart to live day after day in My presence and to adore my Eucharistic Face."

Kid's Corner

This story would have shocked Jesus' hearers. Jesus illustrates God's great mercy in a dramatic reversal of expectations. Echoing today's reading from Sirach, the Gospel from Luke reminds us that sincerity of heart and humility before God is what gets God's attention, not externals and a heart filled with pride, judgment, and arrogance. The tax collector knew himself to be a sinner, but he had the courage to plead for God's mercy. Humility exalts our prayer; self-exaltation crushes our prayer.
